

DISCOVERER'S ROOM (Ages up to 1 ½)

This month the Discoverers have had a focus on colour recognition. The educators are working hard with the children to find fun ways to learn about colours, encouraging both verbal and non-verbal skills, as they begin to say colour names, and match colours to each other. This is great early pattern recognition for this age and the children are having a fantastic time surrounded by colours!

EXPLORER'S ROOM (Ages 1 ½ to 3)

The Explorer children are still so interested in animals, so we have kept running with this theme. The Explorers have particularly enjoyed a game where they listen to animal noises and identify the animal that makes that noise. This is a great activity for critical thinking and reflective practice for this age group.

INVENTOR'S ROOM (Ages 3 to 5)

After a strong focus on NAIDOC Week, the Inventor's children have continued to show an interest in learning more about the Indigenous people, so they have been tasked this month with creating a new Acknowledgement of Country for the whole centre to adopt. We can't wait to hear it!

Sandra is our wonderful multi-faceted trainee educator. As she learns the industry, she has been able to not only work confidently between all of the rooms, but Sandra also jumps in the kitchen when our chef Feno is away.

OUR TEAM

We are excited to have Dionne from our Inventors room, step up into a Room Leader role in the Explorers Room this month. Dionne is eager to take on this new challenge, and we know she is going to be fantastic in this role.

FROM KARL & ANDREW

Over the last few weeks our team has been working on updating our programming style. We want to move towards a child led style of learning, which has the children at the heart. If you have any questions on what this will look like, please don't hesitate to catch Gemma in the office for a chat.

Our new winter menus are up and running, and Feno is doing a fantastic job with these new recipes! If you'd like a copy of any of the recipes we are using, come and speak to Feno or Gemma and they will be happy to help!
